Activity

Skiing

We toured up to check out the east facing meadows south of Flathead Pass. We saw very isolated wind slabs near the top of the ridge but, with temperatures remaining below freezing, observed little activity in the most recent snow. In addition to the touch and go wind slabs, some fresh tracks kept us alert throughout the day. Thank you for another year of putting together detailed and insightful forecasts! Please let me know if it will remain helpful to continue submitting observations.
