

All new snow that formed a slab
and stressed the weak, faceted snow underneath

0.5-1.0 mm facets

In the last 7 days, the snowpack near Cooke City has doubled. This new snow placed enormous stress on weak facets on the ground. These facets formed during below zero F weather during the second week of November.
Photo: GNFAC

Advisory Region
Cooke City
Longitude
-109.94W

Latitude
45.04N

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Fri Nov 28, 2014GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Sat Nov 29, 2014GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Sun Nov 30, 2014
Cooke City, 2014-11-27